

LAC QUI PARLE ANNOUNCEMENTS for SEPTEMBER 13

Welcome to our outdoor worship service this morning at Lac qui Parle Lutheran Church! We extend a special welcome to all who are visiting with us. Please come again!

Thank you all for wearing your mask, bringing your own chair, and maintaining at least 6 feet social distancing from the next individual and/or family group! A few other items to remember-- The bathrooms are available, and hand sanitizer is available by the bathroom doors. The church service will only be a half hour in length. The offering basket is placed up in front. Either before or after the service, you are encouraged to put your offering in the basket. Also, outdoor services will need to be cancelled if it rains.

One last thing: If you wish to visit with people following the service, please observe at least 6 feet distance from the other person, and don't stay too long! Thank you!

For the time being and into the near future, we will not be making use of lectors or acolytes for our worship services.

Next Sunday is Rally Sunday! We will bless student backpacks during the service and bless tractors and families today as well for the upcoming harvest!

The Christ in Our Home devotional booklets for July-September are available. If you would like one, please speak to an usher.

Ushers for the month of September are John Dessonville and Dave Falness.

On September 27, we will start to worship indoors again! We will also celebrate Holy Communion again on Sunday, October 4!
